The Carey Family

Report of Genealogy Committee.

Queen Elizabeth, of England was daughter of King Henry VIII. She reigned from 1649 to 1660. She was unmarried and said to be a relation of the Carey family.

The Carey family came from the English Government, said to be from England. The farthest back we have been able to trace the Carey name is to one John Carey and Mary his wife, who came to America with three sons or more (and perhaps some daughters) about the year 1681, in time of Penn's colony and settled in Bucks Co., Pa.

One of these sons name was John Carey and his wife's name was Elizabeth.

We are descendants of this John and Elizabeth Carey.

This John and Elizabeth Carey, or at least one of their sons, whose name was Samuel, and his wife, Rachel, moved to Lowden County, Va., and from there to Grayson County, Va., and then to Highland County, O., about the year 1818.

It was this Samuel Carey that had been to Virginia, and on his way back to Highland County, O., was taken suddenly sick and died at Salt Creek, east of Chillicothe.

Thomas Greene has just recently visited the Salt Creek neighborhood where there was a Friends meeting at the time of Samuel Carey's death. He found the grave of Samuel Carey with the stone wall around it, put there by Gershom Perdue. He talked with a number of men who said they had heard their parents talk about a man by the name of Carey dying with cholera and his grave was inside that stone wall, so there seems to be no mistake about the grave. The graveyard is all gone down except this one grave marked by the stone wall. The grave is 11 miles east of Chillicothe, and 1½ miles south of Richmondale on the C. H. & D. R R. and 4½ miles south of Vigo on the B & O S. W. R. R. and on the farm of Martha Colwell. He died at a friends house by the name of Stewart. Thomas saw the house where he died, it is a very old log house.

Gen Sam Carey, of Cincinnati, was a second cousin to Samuel Carey who married Anna McPherson.

This Samuel Carey that come from Grason County, Va., and settled in Highland County, O., was born April 2, 1752. His wife, Rachel, was born February 11, 1754.

THE NAME AND FAMILY OF CAREY

The Carey family has been known in both England and Ireland since the conquest of William the Conqueror, in 1066 A.D. As a surname, it has been spelled variously at different times in America, England, and Ireland as:- Kari, Kary, Karry, Kerry, Cari, Caree, Carye, Cary and Carey. Of these, the last two are the usual forms in America today.

The Name Carey, or Cary, originated from a stream called "Kerry" and a manor of the same name in Liston Hundred, England. This castle and property was given to a Norman Knight, who accompanied William the Conqueror to England in 1066 A.D. William the Conqueror personally granted the land and castle to this Knight for his valiant deeds in battle during the conquest. This Norman Knight named the castle Castle Kerry, and it is from this castle that our family derived its name, in Somersetshire.

The first ancestor of the family of whom there is definite record by name, is one Sir Rudolph de Kerry. He was a Knight upon the Second Crusade, in 1150. His son, Sir Adam de Kerry, was Lord of Castle Kerry, in 1198. He married Anne Trevett, daughter of Sir William Trevett. Adam de Kerry was succeeded by his eldest son, John de Kary. John married Elisabeth Stapleton, daughter of Sir Richard Stapleton. His eldest son, William De Kary, was born about the year 1230. William Married Alice Beaumont, daughter of Sir William Beaumont. Their son John de Karry married Phillippa Archdeacon, daughter of Sir William Archdeacon. The eldest son and heir of John and Phillippa was Sir William Cary. Sir William married Margaret Bozon of Devonshire, and made his home in that county.

Sir John Cary, son of Sir William Cary, married Jane de Bryon, daughter of Sir Guy de Bryon. He was the father of Sir John Cary II, who was the father of Sir Robert Cary. Sir Robert was granted the three white roses and the motto, "Virtute Excerptae", on the Carey Coat-of-arms, by King Henry V of England, in 1413, for valor displayed upon the battlefield. Sir Robert had a son, Sir Philip Cary. Sir Philip was the father of Sir William Cary, Knight of Cockington, who fell at the Battle of Tewkesbury, in 1471.

Sir William had two sons. By his first wife, Elizabeth, he was the father of Robert Cary, ancestor of the Carys of Cockington, and progenitor of the families of Cary in Clovelly, Marldon, Torre Abbey, and Follaton in Somersetshire. By his second wife, Alice, Sir William sired Thomas Cary of Chilton Foliot, County Wilts, who was the progenitor of the lines of the Barons of Hunsdon, the Earls of Monmouth, and the Viscounts of Falkland. These Carys were from Devonshire, and all are said to have been related.

Thomas Cary was the father of another Sir William Cary, Knight of Cockington. Sir William married Mary Boleyn, sister of Anne Boleyn, second wife of Henry VIII of England. Anne was beheaded in 1536, by Henry VIII's order. Sir William and Mary had issue of Sir Henry Cary, Knight of the Garter, Gentleman of the Privy Council, Lord Chamberlain to Queen Elizabeth, and first Baron of Hunsdon, in 1559.

Queen Elizabeth Tudor I of England was the daughter of King Henry VIII and Anne Boleyn. She reigned from November 17, 1558, to March 24, 1603. She was unmarried, and said to be a relative of the Carey family.

From the several illustrious branches of the family in England, members for the most part of the landed aristocracy, were descended many prominent men of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. And, from those branches were descended, also, the American families of the name of Carey and Cary, whose founders were among the first English settlers in the New World.

One of the earliest emigrants to New England (that is, of the family name) was John Cary, who came from Somersetshire, England, to the Plymouth Colony about 1634. He was a founder-father of Bridgewater and Duxbury, Massachusetts. He made his home in Duxbury, and was the only officer - constable - of that town and Bridgewater, Massachusetts, in 1656. He is said to have been a teacher of Latin in the Plymouth Colony. He married Elizabeth Godfrey, and they had twelve sons and daughters:- John, Francis, Elizabeth, James, Mary, Jonathan, David, Hannah, Joseph, Rebecca, Sarah, and Mehitable. John Cary moved in later life to Bridgewater, Massachusetts, where he died in 1681.

Another of the early emigrants, of the name, to New England, was James Cary, who came to Charlestown, Massachusetts, sometime before 1639. He is said to have been town clerk of Charlestown. He married Elinor Hawkins. He is said to have been related to the emigrant John Cary and Myles (or Miles) Cary, all three of whom came from the same part of England.

A third early emigrant, of the name, to America, was Myles (or Miles) Cary, who is said to have had a common ancestry with James Cary. He settled, at first, at Windmill Point, Warwick County, Virginia, between the years 1640 and 1645. He was a descendent of a prominent family of Bristol, England, and the founder of a distinguished and aristocratic family of Virginia. In 1646, he married Anne Taylor, daughter of Captain Thomas Taylor. Myles was the father of Thomas, Anne, Henry, Bridget, Elizabeth, Myles, and William. He later in life obtained a grant of 3,000 acres of land in Westmoreland County, Virginia, in 1654.

Another of the early emigrants, of the name, to America during this time, and our direct line descendent (as near as we know) in this country, was John Carey, whose wife was Mary. John was a Quaker. They came to America with three sons, or more (and perhaps some daughters), in 1681. They settled in William Penn's Colony, Bucks County, Pennsylvania.

One of the sons of John Carey was John Carey II. His wife's name was Elizabeth. We are descendents of this John and Elizabeth Carey. They, or at least one of their sons, whose name was Samuel Carey, together with his wife, Rachel Doan, moved to Lowden County, Virginia; then, from there to Grayson County, Virginia; then, to Highland County, Ohio, about the year 1818. It was this Samuel Carey, who had been back to Virginia visiting, and on his way back to his home in Highland County, was taken ill suddenly with Cholera. He died at a friends house by the name of Stewart at Salt Creek, about 11 miles east of Chillicothe, Ohio. He was buried on the farm of Martha Colwell.

Cousin Thomas Greene, along with some other cousins, visited the Salt Creek neighborhood, where there had been a Friends Meeting taking place at the time of Samuel Carey's death. They found the grave of Samuel Carey, and it had a stone wall around it - put there by Gershom Perdue. Thomas and the cousins talked to a number of men, who said they had heard their parents talk about a man named Carey dying of Cholera. These men said his grave was inside the stone wall. So, there seems to be no mistake about the grave. The graveyard is all gone down except for this one grave, marked by the stone wall. Specifically, this grave is 11 miles east of Chillicothe, Ohio, and 1½ miles south of Richmondale, Ohio, on the old C.H. & D. Railroad; and, it is 4½ miles south of Vigo, Ohio, on the B. & O. Railroad. Thomas also saw the house in which Samuel Carey died. He said at that time that it was a very old log house.

Samuel Carey was born April 2, 1752, and died September 6, 1823. His wife, Rachel Doan, was born February 11, 1754, and died March 16, 1830.

(The above information about Samuel Carey's death and burial was obtained in the early 1900's, so that by now, at this present date, we may not be able to find the grave.)

MILITARY HISTORY

IN # AMERICA

Among those of the family who served as officers of the Continental Army in the American Revolution were:-

-COLONEL RICHARD CARY Jr. - From Virginia.
- His regiment is mentioned in Army reports of September 7, 1776, and again on September 8, 1776.
- He was Aide to General George Washington in 1776, and - "By His Excellency's command" - the following order, or, in part, was sent out under the date, September 16, 1776:- "Every regiment posted upon the Heights (upper New York), from Morris' House to General McDugal's camp, to furnish guards proper guards to prevent a surprise. Not less than 20 men from each regiment. General Putnam commands upon the right flank tonight; General Spencer, from McDugal's Brigade up to Morris' House. Should the enemy attempt to force their pass tonight, General Putnam is to apply to General Spencer for re-inforcements."

By His Excellency's command,

Richard Cary Jr., Aide de Camp

-COLONEL MILES CARY - From Brunswick County, Virginia
- One daughter named Charlotte Louisa Cary

-COLONEL ARCHIBALD CARY - From Virginia

-COLONEL SIMEON CAREY - From Massachusetts

-CAPTAIN WILLIAM CAREY - From New Hampshire

-LIEUTENANT later CAPTAIN JONATHAN CAREY - From Massachusetts
- His wife was Elizabeth Proctor
- He was buried on Copp's Hill, in 1801

-LIEUTENANT EPHRAIM CAREY - From Rhode Island

-ENSIGN JOSIAH CAREY - From Massachusetts

-LIEUTENANT SAMUEL CAREY - From historic Gloucester County, Virginia

-LIEUTENANT DUDLEY CAREY - From historic Gloucester County, Virginia

-QUARTERMASTER OBED CAREY - From Virginia

Among other members of the family who distinguished themselves in the military service of this country were:-

-GENERAL SAMUEL CAREY - From Cincinnati, Ohio

A few of the many members of the family who have distinguished themselves in America in more recent times are the following:

-Archibald Cary (1721-1787), of Virginia, planter, industrialist, and Revolutionary statesman.

-Edward Carey (1840-1917), of New York, Newspaper editor.

George Cary (1789-1845), of Maryland, lawyer, agriculturist, state legislator, and member of Congress from Georgia.

-George Booth Cary (1811-1860), of Virginia, planter, and member of Congress from Virginia.

-Henry Charles Carey (1793-1879), of Pennsylvania, economist, publisher, and writer; son of Mathew Carey.

-John Carey (1792-1875), of Virginia, jurist, Indian agent, state legislator, railroad president, and member of Congress from Ohio.

-Joseph Maull Carey (1845-1924, of Delaware, lawyer, jurist, rancher, Governor of Wyoming, and Senator from Wyoming.

-Mathew Carey (1760-1839), of Ireland and America, publisher and economist.

-Robert Davis Carey (1878- ), of Wyoming, businessman and Senator from Wyoming; son of Joseph Maull Carey.

-Samuel Fenton Carey (1814-1900), of Ohio, lawyer, public official, writer, lecturer, and member of Congress from Ohio.

-Shepard Cary (1805-1866), of Massachusetts, agriculturist, businessman, State legislator, and member of Congress from Maine.

-Clifton O'Neal Carey (1875- ), of Ohio, Doctor of Civil Engineering; educator and civil engineer.

OTHER FACTS ABOUT THE CAREY AND CARY FAMILIES

Others of the name of Carey and Cary, who came to America in the seventeenth century, but whose records are not complete, were Nicholas of Salem, Massachusetts; Francis, Oswald and William of Virginia; and John of the Barbados Islands.

The numerous descendents of these and other branches of the family in America have migrated to every state of the Union, and have aided as much in the development of this county as their forebears did in its founding. On the whole, an intellectual, cultured, and energetic race, the Careys of America have been natural leaders in business, Statecraft, politics, and the professions generally.

Elizabeth, Anna, Sarah, Rachel, Mary all are Christian names much preferred by the family for its female members.

John, Charles, Edward, George, Henry, James, Samuel, Joseph, William and Thomas are some of the Christian names most highly favored by the family for its male progeny.
